Russia - Additional Sanctions Planned by Australia

10/02/2022, 6:45:09 AM

- Russia has a mixed economy with vast natural resources, particularly oil and natural gas
- Australia announced its plans to impose further financial sanctions and travel bans following Moscow's move to annex swathes of Ukrainian territory
- Sanctions will be imposed against approximately 30 Russia-backed separatists and senior officials
- Reports stated that the Australian government would penalize 28 people for trying to legitimize Russian attempts to claim several regions in Ukraine
- On a separate note, Russia lost its United Nations Aviation Council seat in rebuke of Moscow for aviation-related actions taken after the Ukraine invasion
- Supply Wisdom is continuously monitoring the situation and will alert you to any relevant developments

GUIDANCE

Actions to Consider

- Be prepared for possible disruptions to businesses due to the reported incident
- Evaluate internal controls and processes to assess the risks arising from newly imposed sanctions and determine if they could impact business operations
- Pay close attention to any change in government policies and business environment amid new sanctions
- Determine strategies to make operations more resilient by diversifying markets and developing alternative sources of supply
- Expect an increase in the cost of operations in the region, which could trigger an increase in pricing for existing services
- Determine if third parties/captive units have sufficient cash in hand to run operations
- Ensure appropriate Business Continuity Plans and Programs are updated as per the changing environment
